1992 ICAAC Young Investigator Awards:
Eligibility and Nominations

The Young Investigator Awards were established in 1983 for the Interscience Conference on Antimicrobial Agents and Chemotherapy (ICAAC) under the sponsorship of Merck Sharp & Dohme. The awards are made annually to four individuals. The deadline for nominations for awards to be presented at the 1992 ICAAC is 1 April 1992.

Purpose. To recognize and reward young investigators for excellence in research in the broad areas of microbiology and infectious diseases. A monetary award is provided to support attendance at ICAAC and other endeavors enhancing the educational background of the individual.

Eligibility. Pre- and postdoctoral students and fellows in microbiology and infectious disease fellows, including those not more than 36 months post-training, who have performed significant research in North America. Research eligible for evaluation is limited to the study and understanding of microbiology, infectious diseases, or any of the sciences associated with the discovery and application of chemotherapeutic agents.

Nominations. Individuals may be nominated by an active member of ASM, and nominations are invited from all qualified fellows. Nominations shall be accompanied by (i) a nomination form (ii) a letter of nomination which includes a specific description of the nominee’s research, (iii) a current CV, and (iv) at least three supporting letters from appropriate individuals in the field, preferably from more than one institution. Nomination forms can be obtained from ASM Headquarters (see below).

Award process. Awardees will be selected by the award committee on the basis of research potential and quality.

Award. Each young investigator selected will receive a monetary award and a certificate. Four awards will be made each year. Awards will be presented by the President of ASM and the Chair of the ICAAC Committee at the annual ICAAC meeting. Awardees and their mentors will be honored at a private dinner hosted by the sponsor, Merck Sharp & Dohme, and their names will be published in ASM NEWS.

Submission procedure. All materials in support of a nomination for the 1992 award must be assembled and copied before submission. Submit six copies by 1 April 1992 to the Awards Committee, American Academy of Microbiology, 1325 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W., Washington, DC 20005.
